

I feel that the morse code requirement for amateur radio should be eliminated. We are moving forward in technology in leaps and bounds yet we still maintain code as a requirement, even after all radio services have eliminated it's use. Let's move forward and not be held back by "I did it, and so should you" preachers! Let's move Amateur Radio into the next century, not hold it back in the 1900's. I am in favor of keeping CW band plans. Those that do wish to practice this mode should retain their part of the spectrum. Thank you very much.
